LOCAL NEWS.

A bold, valuable and successful robbery was committed in this city last night. The tavern or restaurant of Eli Petty, on the west side of Union, between King and Prince streets, was entered through a door opening on the alley, leading from Union to Water street, by thieves, who by means of forceps turned the key which locked, on the inside, the room in which Mr. Petty and his family were sleeping, so that it could be pushed out; then unlocking the door beneath the bed, and taking it down in the bar room, broke it open and took from it over twenty one hundred dollars in specie—twenty $20 gold pieces, and the rest in silver. They left the trunk lying open upon the floor, and went off without a soul in the house being aware of what they had done until this morning. About 12 o'clock last night a man asked the watchman at the Washington Ferry wharf, close to the restaurant, what hour the first boat for Washington would leave; and a half hour afterwards two suspicious looking characters passed by the same watchman. These two slight incidents are the only circumstances as yet attaching to the robbery.

Now that the spring has commenced, and the spring trade fairly opened, we again ask the question, why do not the Merchants and business men generally of our city, organize a Board of Trade, or Merchants Exchange. It seems to us that Alexandria is behind the time in this matter, and we are surprised that the necessary steps have not been taken long ere this. All cities of any importance have their trade regulations—even Washington, with no commercial facilities. By such a formation, the whole commerce and business of the city will be thoroughly regulated and systematized, and then our commercial importance will be more fully recognized and all abuses of trade be corrected.

The Loudoun Mirror, commenting upon the irregularities in the transmission of newspapers from Alexandria, on routes which are simple, and the facilities direct, says that these "irregularities can only be accounted for upon the assumption of the grossest neglect or the most incurable ignorance—neither of which used to be tolerated by the Department," and calls upon us to lay the case before the post office authorities. It is very certain that our business is injured by the manner in which our papers are now sent by the mails, and that there is great fault somewhere in route agents, mails, post offices, cars, stages, or distributors, somewhere or somehow. The post office authorities ought to interfere.

Last night a horse and harness were stolen from Mr. Edmund Hunt, at Cameron Mills; a horse and harness from some one, as yet unknown, and a buggy pole from the Wheelwright shop, at West End were also stolen.—These with a no-poled Jersey wagon, also stolen, constituted a very good team, and with it a thief was rapidly making his way down the Occoquan road late last night, when young Mr. Roberts, the nephew of Mr. Hunt, who was pursuing him, checked his speed, and forced him to jump from the wagon and run into the woods adjoining the road, by drawing a revolver which however, unluckily, snapped. Mr. Roberts brought the team back to this city.

THE ECLIPSE OF THE MOON.—To-night there will be an eclipse of the moon, which will be visible not only in the United States but throughout the greater part of the American Continent. In this city the eclipse will commence at 9.30 P. M., will be total between the hours of 10.35 P. M. and 0.14 A. M., and will terminate at 1.20 A. M. Although our satellite will be on this occasion immersed in the shadow of the earth more than an hour and a half, (1h. 35m.) it will not entirely disappear, but will remain visible, of the color and appearance of a disc of tarnished copper, with its light so diminished that it will seem to be rayless or without scintillation.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.—Our Carriers will make their collections in the Western part of the city—west from Royal street,—to-morrow, and we ask the favor of our subscribers to settle with them. Many of them have not been called on for some time and are in arrears, and as our business is necessarily a cash one, we trust the collectors may not be disappointed. The small amounts due, though unimportant to our subscribers are very important in the aggregate, to us. And as our subscribers get fully the worth of their money in the paper we furnish them with, we presume it will give them pleasure in aiding us to send their daily the Gazette.

During the war, the "popular" pronunciation of cavalry was "calvary"—ambulances were called "avalanches," &c., &c. But there is now a new name to a new "institution."—Said an "indignant" citizen, the other day, riled at something or other which had been done by the Freedmen's Bureau,—"I affirm this—it is so—I don't care a d—n for the Freedmen's Sideboard, or anything they may do." His passion was exhausted, and he "subsided."

Good butter, whether country, mountain or northern, is a very scarce article in this community at present. There is, however, a good supply of inferior butter about. We should think, however, that more fresh butter would now be coming in from the adjoining counties than really is. The grass is beginning to grow, and the season for calving is at hand, and the only reason why it is not forthcoming, we suppose, is the fact that the farmers are too busy with their teams and hands to sent it in.

Among the improvements now in progress in this city, and in contemplation, we mention that an enterprising firm has leased from Wheat & Bro., their extensive Steam Mill property, near Fish Town, and will, as soon as the necessary repairs, which are slight, can be completed, commence running the mill to its full capacity.

POLICE REPORT.—MAYOR'S OFFICE.—Jefferson Roberts, for using threatening language towards Mrs. Susana Monroe, was fined, and bound over to keep the peace.

The hour of departure of the steamer Cahill has been changed from seven, to ten o'clock A. M. on Saturday morning.

We published on Monday evening last an article, which has been extensively copied in the State, that the property of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad would be turned over to the proper and legally elected officers of that Company, on Wednesday, the 28th inst. We made this announcement upon information derived from a member of the Committee appointed by the Stockholders of the Company, to make the necessary arrangements with the party still in possession of the road, for its transfer. Our informant is an honorable gentleman. From his interviews with the other party he had been led to believe that what he told us was their bona fide intention. He has been deceived, and so has the whole community. State authority is not at naught, and the Orange & Alexandria Railroad is still held by Mr. Quigg.

"Encourage Home," has always been our advice; never buy out of town what you can get here, especially when the article here is just as good, if not better, and often cheaper, than elsewhere—and in this connection, we would advise our lady friends, who want the "latest styles," and the prettiest, at prices to suit the times, to call at Mrs. Simpson's, No. 9, South Columbus street, where they cannot fail to be pleased.

The Rev. Dr. Sampson, President of Columbian College, will commence a course of Lectures in this city to-night, at the Methodist Protestant Church—subject, Land of Goshen. The bare notice that the Dr. is to deliver a lecture is sufficient, we suppose, to secure a full house, and of all who do attend not one will regret the evening as lost. Maps and drawings will be exhibited to explain the lecture.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce gives a startling account of the discoveries made through a microscope by a man determined to guard against Trichina. One day in the absence of his favorite fish he was obliged to substitute a scrap of beef when he found the revelations of the microscope to be far more wonderful, the tissues being crammed with infinitesimal creatures in all stages of growth and activity. Alarmed at this development, he removed the beef and hastened to sponge away all traces of the new infection. But alas! he had jumped from the frying-pan into the fire. Happening to leave a drop of Croton on the glass, one glance through the microscope revealed to his astounded gaze such a new variety of horrors held in this one drop of water, that he fairly screamed with fright. There were within that little space, many scores of frightful creatures, round with fangs, horns, tusks, claws, stings, and other fearful weapons. Truly an innocent-looking reptile among them all. These were not dormant, but living active restless animals, the strong preying upon and devouring the weak, and all ready for any new field of offensive warfare. The investigator thinks if the community can stand the swallowing of a few hundred living tigers, crocodiles, elephants, alligators, scorpions, dragons, and serpents now to be found in every drop of water that is drunk in the city, that he shall be able to survive a few dormant trichina spiralis in his pork, and need not be alarmed at the like developments in every other article of food or drop of liquid taken into the human stomach.

IMPORTATIONS.—The list of the aggregate sales of twenty-three of the principal dry goods merchants in New York for the past year, as sworn to in their returns to the revenue officers, amounts to the vast sum of $204,879,413. And the tide of importations still rolls in, while our national bonds go out, swelling still larger a vast debt abroad.

Our imports at New York are as follows up to March 22:
Since January 1, 1884, 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1889, 1890.
Entered at the port, 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031.
Entered on market, 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031 22,521,031.
Total, 45,042,062 45,042,062 45,042,062 45,042,062 45,042,062 45,042,062 45,042,062 45,042,062.

At this rate our imports for the year will be some $350,000,000, with no corresponding exports of the products of our industry, or even of our gold, to balance.

In due time foreign Shylocks will demand, to the full, usage and all the "pound of flesh"—the amount of bonds which now it seems so easy to give, for all they send us.—Washington Chronicle.

A NEW ORLEANS DECISION.—The following very significant and important ruling of Judge Durell, in the United States Circuit Court of New Orleans, in the case of the United States against Harri Robinson, has just been received. The counsel for defendant offered a motion that General Canby pay certain money held by him and claimed by defendant in court, which motion the Judge granted. Mr. Goodloe, United States District Attorney, said he did not believe General Canby would obey the order.—Whereupon Judge Durell held that perhaps it would have been more safe if the court had followed the opinion and example of Chief Justice Chase, and not held a United States Court in districts under military rule. But as he had held the court under military rule, he believed he had authority to maintain the dignity of the court to its full extent, and if Gen. Canby, or any other high authority, presumed to ignore the decrees of the United States Circuit Court of this city, he would discharge the defendant on his own recognizance.

TRACHEROUS.—Senator Stockton was voted out of his seat to-day by the absence of Stewart, of Nevada. He voted for him the other day, but when the case came up this morning, he absented himself without being paired, and the result was that Mr. Stockton lost his seat by 22 to 21. If Stewart had been present it would have been a tie, and the resolution discharging Stockton not entitled to his seat would have been lost. Stewart's course is generally denounced by honest men here. The Radicals got him out of the way—a sort of bargain.—After Stockton had been expelled, Stewart appeared in the Senate Chamber, and was warmly congratulated by Mr. Wade and other leading Radicals.—Washington con. Philadelphia Age.

It appears incendiary fires have become so frequent at Cumberland, Md., that Mayor Harrison has been induced to offer a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of any guilty party. It is understood that the monthly statement of the Secretary of the Treasury will show a gratifying reduction of the national obligations.

The various great express companies North are to be consolidated into one mammoth company.
